Tom Brady: RETIREMENT, TAKE 2!

MAYBE THIS TIME IT'LL STICK? THE NFL GREAT STEPS AWAY FROM THE GAME ONCE MORE.

THE FOOTBALL G.O.A.T. HANGS UP HIS CLEATS

EXACTLY one year after announcing his first retirement, Tom Brady retired. Again. "I'll get to the point right away," the seven-time Super Bowl champ said in a Feb. 1 video on Twitter. "I'm retiring — for good." The Tampa Bay Buccaneers QB, considered one of the greatest players of all time, famously retired and un-retired within a matter of weeks last March, hoping to lead his team to another Super Bowl win.

What followed was a year of upheaval. The 45-year-old and his wife, Gisele Bündchen, divorced amid reports that she resented him for putting his career over their home life with kids Benjamin, 13, and 10-year-old Vivian (he shares Jack, 15, with ex Bridget Moynahan). "This is a very violent sport," the supermodel, 42, said in September, a month before their divorce, "and I have my children and I would like him to be more present."

Of course, many are wondering whether the athlete's ambition was worth it (the Bucs lost to the Dallas Cowboys 31–14 in the playoffs Jan. 16). "Tom would never admit it himself, but a lot of people feel he could have saved his marriage if he'd retired last year," an insider tells Star. "Tom wasn't ready to retire." Now the newly minted star of the fan-flick 80 for Brady is looking forward, but he won't stray far from his roots. "He's got a $375 million deal with Fox," says the insider. "He can start working as an analyst. He's got a lot of things to keep him busy." ★

BEACHY KEEN

After putting her modeling career on the back burner, Gisele was back in action in Miami. "She wishes only the best for Tom," says an insider.

FAN CLUB

"Tom had a blast working with Rita, Sally, Lily and Jane," says an insider. "He was a duck out of water and they taught him so much about acting."

SHE FEELS GOOD!

SHANIA TWAIN:

SAYING NO TO PLASTIC SURGERY!

THE NATURAL BEAUTY OPENS UP ABOUT WHY SHE'S DECIDED TO 'FORGET THE SAG.'

Body Positive

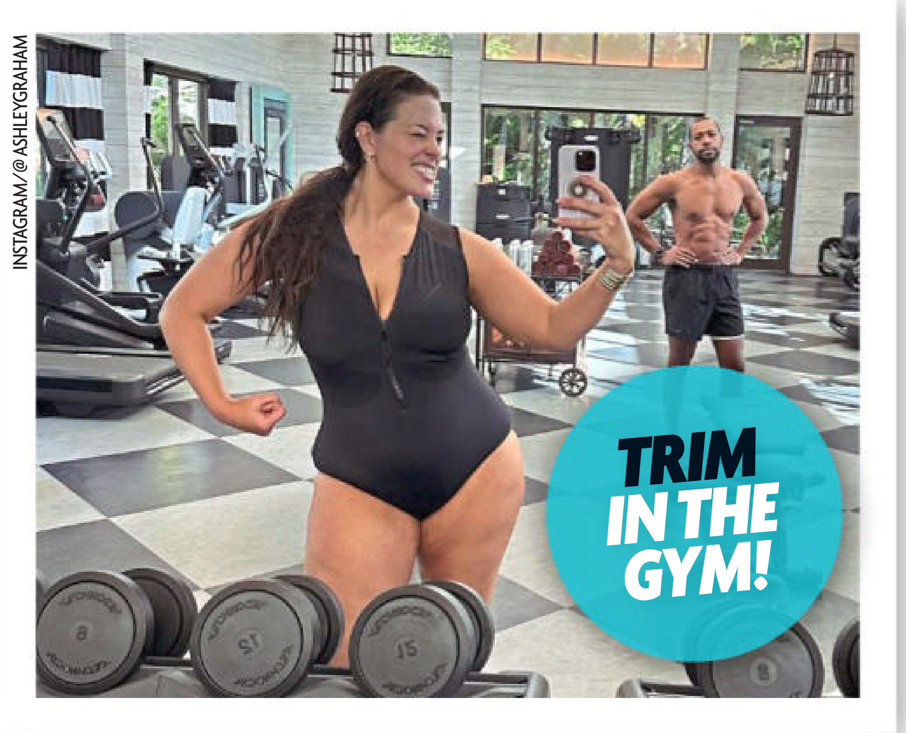
"I was shy about wearing a bikini at the beach when I was younger, and I'm thinking, 'That was ridiculous. I gotta stop this nonsense and start wearing a bikini to the beach now!'" Shania said.

Posing in the nude for her new album, Queen of Me, marked a turning point for Shania Twain. Calling the shoot "a leap of faith," the "That Don't Impress Me Much" singer told Hoda Kotb, "It's also one of those things like, I better enjoy this moment right now because I know I don't look like I did when I was 20."

At 57, the Canada-born singer admits she sometimes feels pressure to go under the knife to preserve her youthful looks. Instead, the mom of one told the Making Space With Hoda Kotb podcast she's decided to "forget the sag." She reasons that surgery can be both unpredictable — and addictive. "Sure, I've got lots of friends that have had very successful surgeries, but I've also seen others that aren't so successful," said the five-time Grammy winner, noting, "One thing pulled here, and another one pulled there — I don't know, I may never be happy. So it's my perception of things that has to change... instead of changing who I am and what I look like."

That's a hard-won lesson for Shania, who has been open about the abuse she suffered at the hands of her stepfather, sharing in December that she would wear too-small bras in hope of flattening her chest and avoiding his attention. "Oh my gosh, it was horrible," she added. "You didn't want to be a girl in my house." Despite that painful past, she's learned to love her body. "Otherwise, I'm going to hate myself for the rest of my life," she explained. "So it's time to start loving myself in my own skin." ★

ASHLEY GRAHAM'S SUPER SLIMDOWN!

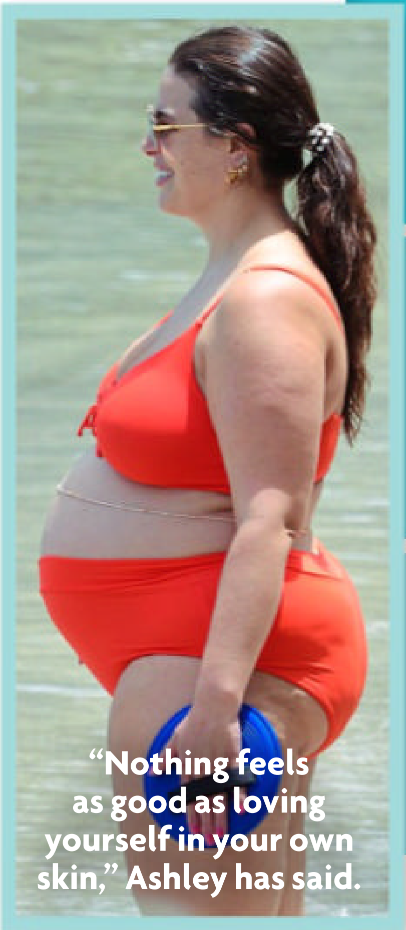


TRIM IN THE GYM!

INSTAGRAM/@ASHLEYGRAHAM

Losing the baby weight — and then some! A year after giving birth, plus-size model Ashley Graham has dropped 20 lbs. from her pre-pregnancy weight. "Ashley has always made a living off being a plus-size woman and is proud of her curves," an insider tells Star of the body-positivity advocate. "But after giving birth to twins, she found it difficult to chase after them and their toddler brother with the extra weight."

The 35-year-old and her husband of 12 years, Justin Ervin, revamped their diet and hit the gym, adds the insider. "Ervin agreed to help," says the source, "even though he's always found Ashley sexy." The result: The 5-foot-10 Sports Illustrated cover girl dropped from 170 to 150 lbs. "Ashley loves her new body, and more importantly, she loves how much better she feels," says the insider. "She loves the extra energy she's found by shedding the weight." ★



"Nothing feels as good as loving yourself in your own skin," Ashley has said.

ALL IS FORGIVEN?

After doing their time for their part in the college admissions scandal, it looks as if Hollywood is welcoming Lori Loughlin and Felicity Huffman back. First Lori, 58, who served 20 months for bribing university officials to get her daughters into college, landed her second Great American Family rom-com, Fall Into Winter, opposite James Tupper. Now sources tell Star, Felicity will appear on the Good Doctor spinoff, The Good Lawyer — her first role since the 60-year-old pled guilty to conspiracy to commit fraud and spent 14 days behind bars in 2019. "It's taken months and a lot of false starts, but Felicity has finally landed the kind of gig she used to be a shoo-in for," an insider says of the Desperate Housewives alum. "She kept her standards high and was honest about the sticky situation she got herself into, and now she's reaping the rewards." ★

Fuller House vet Lori "is grateful that the people at GAF believed in her when so many other network bosses didn't," says an insider.

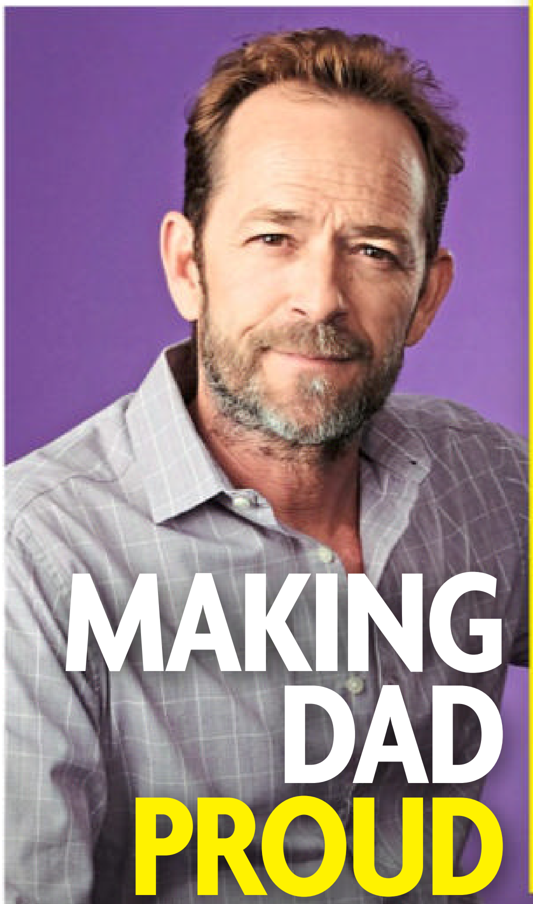
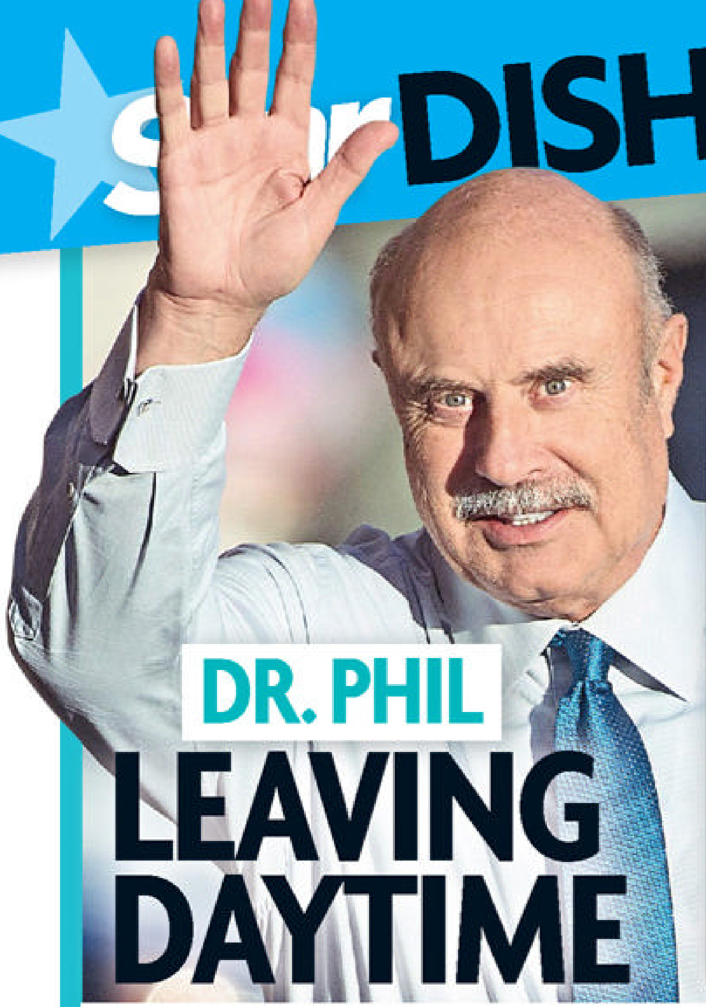
MAKING DAD PROUD



"He loved and supported me in everything," Jack has said of his father.

INSTAGRAM/@BOY_MYTH_LEGEND AND AEW

This nepo baby didn't take the easy way out! Though he shares his late father Luke Perry's brooding good looks, Jack Perry has taken a different path than the Beverly Hills, 90210 star, who died of a stroke at 52 in 2019. Since 2015, the 25-year-old has doggedly pursued a career as a professional wrestler! Known as "Jungle Boy" — a Tarzan-esque character with a mane of curls and skimpy briefs — Jack is currently signed to All Elite Wrestling. Initially, the younger Perry played down his connection to his heartthrob pop, an insider tells Star. "Jack wanted to prove himself in the ring and be judged on his own merits, not on who his dad was." Instead, he put in the work. "Jack always wanted to be a wrestler," adds the insider. "Now that he can get in the ring with the best of the best, he knows his dad would be proud of him for following his dream." ★



DR. PHIL
LEAVING DAYTIME

Long Run
"I have been blessed with over 25 years in daytime television," said Phil, whose show nabbed the No. 2 ratings spot and 31 Emmys.

AFTER 21 years of tough love, Dr. Phil McGraw will bid farewell to daytime TV at the end of 2022–2023 season. On the often-controversial Dr. Phil, the 72-year-old, who has a doctorate in psychology, hosted such oddball guests as a young woman convinced she was carrying Jesus Christ's baby (it turned out to be gas) and a guy who claimed to write Taylor Swift's song "Shake It Off" (his parents called him a pathological liar).

The show also had controversies behind the scenes. In February 2022, a dozen current and former staffers alleged it fostered a "toxic" work environment, claiming an exec producer ridiculed them as "idiots" and "stupid" and used other slurs. (Attorneys for Phil and the execs denied all allegations.)

Despite that, the Oklahoma native, worth a reported $460 million, is now looking to expand his reach by moving into prime time. "I am compelled to engage with a broader audience because I have grave concerns for the American family," said the dad of two. "And I am determined to help restore a clarity of purpose as well as our core values." ★

STAR SPOTS THE STARS

- Sofia Coppola, stopping by the Fairyland screening party at the Zooz Cinema Center, sponsored by Emface, in NYC.
- Tori Spelling, celebrating her new TV series with Yannis Vasilas at 9 Jones' No-Thing Members Only dining space, in NYC.
- Carmelo Anthony, toasting his new VII(N) The Seventh Estate wine, at dinner at 9 Jones, in NYC.
- Maggie Wheeler, attending the launch of International Delight Friends Manhattan Hazelnut Mocha creamer, at the Friends Experience, in NYC.
- Summer House's Kyle Cooke and Amanda Batula, handing out roses at the Hanky Panky Intimates x Pomp Flowers pop-up, in NYC.
- Mariah Carey, dining with family at Benjamin Steakhouse, in Westchester, N.Y.

HELENA BONHAM CARTER:
STOP THE CROWN!

She made an impression as the boozy Princess Margaret on seasons 3 and 4 of The Crown, but Helena Bonham Carter thinks the series, which chronicles the British royal family, should pump the brakes after season 5 delved into the demise of King Charles III's marriage to Diana. Asked whether the publication of Prince Harry's memoir, Spare, would make it easier for writers to get a grip on the modern royal family, the 56-year-old had a surprising response. "I should be careful here, but I don't think they should carry on, actually," said the actress. "I'm in it and I loved my episodes, but it's very different now. When The Crown started it was historic drama, and now it's crashed into the present." One watcher may disagree. During his Jan. 10 spot on The Late Show With Stephen Colbert, Harry admitted to watching. Asked if he "fact-checked" it, he laughed: "Yes, I do, actually." ★

Truth and Consequences
Elizabeth Debicki, who plays Diana, has argued that the show is handled with "sensitivity and truth and complexity."

Michael SINGLE & READY TO MINGLE!

Hit him up! After an unhappy breakup, the Creed II star announced he's very available.

On the market! Michael B. Jordan, who split from Lori Harvey last summer, won't be single for long — he's actively seeking a new bae on celebrity dating app Raya. After the Creed II star dropped the news while hosting Saturday Night Live on Jan. 28, a source confirmed that the actor wasn't joking. "He has already been on a few casual dates," reports the insider. "A lot of celebrities are on Raya looking for love and Michael figured why not join them, it's totally private and exclusive and a lot of the women in the profiles he's seeing are knockouts."

The Hollywood heartthrob was clearly smitten with Lori (a.k.a. Steve Harvey's daughter) during their year-and-a-half romance, telling one interviewer that he was "extremely happy" and posting sweet tributes and milestones on Instagram. Following their breakup last June, however, the A-lister, 36, and the model/skin-care brand founder, 26 — who's since moved on with actor Damson Idris — unfollowed each other on social media and deleted their mutual pics, leading some to believe the split was less than amicable.

"Most people after a breakup are like, 'I'm going to get in better shape' — but I was already in Creed shape," the actor joked on SNL. So instead of seeking a revenge bod, he's seeking Ms. Right online. "It just makes sense," says the source of joining the Hollywood-beloved app. "If he meets The One, he would date her exclusively. But in the meantime, he's getting a lot of attention." ★

Meghan's BABY NEWS

She's all about that baby! Meghan Trainor announced she is four months pregnant with baby No. 2 — and despite feeling sick and sore during the early months of her pregnancy, the pop star is bursting with joy at the thought of welcoming a sibling for son Riley, 2. "I'm just so grateful I can get pregnant," said the 29-year-old. "And I'm like, 'I'm crushing it. This is amazing. This is my dream.'" A source says Meghan and hubby Daryl Sabara, 30, are fully in baby mode, expanding the nursery, dealing with late-night sweet and salty cravings, and preparing for the April release of Meghan's pregnancy-themed book, Dear Future Mama. The "Made You Look" singer has also said she hopes to remain on the baby train: "I'm halfway there — I want four kids!" Adds the source, "It's always been her dream to have a bunch of kids and Daryl is on board. Life just keeps getting better for Meghan. She feels very blessed." ★

Amy to T.J. TRUST ISSUES

The truth will come out! Following Amy Robach and T.J. Holmes' offscreen affair and subsequent ouster from Good Morning America, the former cohosts have been happily cavorting as a couple. But now, claims a source, news of T.J.'s previous workplace flings — allegedly with coworker Natasha Singh in 2016 and an intern in 2015, both while married to now-estranged wife Marilee Feibig — have Amy insisting that the 45-year-old take a lie-detector test! "She's freaking out that she may have gotten in bed with a serial cheater," says the source of the 49-year-old, currently divorcing Andrew Shue. "T.J. swears he's been honest with her, but Amy won't believe him until he takes the polygraph. Amy wants to know what she's dealing with." ★

Pants on Fire?

T.J. is "very secretive about his past and full of denials," claims a source.

The Little Miss Sunshine star, 26, chose a traditional flowing white gown for the black-tie affair and carried a lush white floral bouquet. "She really does feel like she's found her soulmate," says an insider. "They've been together five years and Ira's extremely supportive and makes Abigail happy. Her friends are thrilled for her." Following the splashy nuptials, says the source, the newlyweds "just want to relax and unwind and savor this time together." ★

AFTER A TENSE FIVE-YEAR BREAK, GEORGE CLOONEY AND BRAD PITT ARE FINALLY FRIENDS AGAIN

Thick as Thieves

"They're always joking around and playing pranks," says a source of George and Brad (on the set of Wolves in NYC Jan. 30).

Funny Guys

The A-listers have been making up for lost time. "Working together has been great," says a source.

GEORGE CLOONEY and Brad Pitt were clearly having a blast while filming their upcoming Apple TV+ action flick, Wolves, in New York City on Jan. 30. Dressed similarly in gray pants and matching black leather jackets, the actors — who star as two lone-wolf fixers assigned to the same job — were spotted laughing and chatting behind the scenes and later cracking up while sitting together in a stunt car.

It's been a while since fans have seen the formerly close pals together. The A-listers were practically inseparable during the early 2000s while starring in the popular Ocean's franchise. But they grew apart amid rumors they were competing for roles and that their respective wives — Brad wed ex Angelina Jolie in August 2014 and George and Amal tied the knot less than a month later — didn't get along. They were barely speaking for the past five years, but now, sources say they've found common ground again. (Brad's rep denies Star's story.) "Brad and George had a lengthy cooling-off period," a source tells Star, "but they're back to their old ways."

IRRESISTIBLE DUO

George and Brad's early friendship had been one for the ages. As bickering partners in crime in Ocean's Eleven, Ocean's Twelve and Ocean's Thirteen, they had an onscreen chemistry that translated into box-office gold. "Brad and George go back years and they both got successful around the same time," says the source. "But they really bonded while working on the Ocean's movies. They have the same sense of humor and they don't take themselves too seriously."

Offscreen, they were famous for playing pranks on each other. While filming Ocean's Eleven, for instance, George slapped a marijuana-leaf bumper sticker on the back of Brad's car that read, "Fk Cops." In retaliation, Brad had signs posted around Lake Como — George's current hometown and a location for Ocean's Twelve — saying George was only to be addressed as Mr. Clooney and that no one should make ▷

Happy Couple

George and Amal approve of Brad's new romance with Ines. "George is happy for Brad," the source says.

Double Dates

A source says Brad and Ines have hit the town with George and Amal. "They think Ines is perfect for him."

eye contact with him. "So the paper was like, 'Il divo! George Clooney is il divo!,'" George later recalled. "It was a horrible story which I later got him back for."

BAD BLOOD

Things changed when Brad, 59, got serious with Angelina. The parents of Maddox, 21, Pax, 19, Zahara, 18, Shiloh, 16, and 14-year-old twins Knox and Vivienne were busy traveling the globe with their children, while George was still living the carefree bachelor life. "Brad was busy juggling his kids, Angelina and his career, and George still had a revolving door of girlfriends and party-boy rep," says the source.

Angelina kept Brad on a tight leash. "She had a lot to do with Brad and George's falling out," dishes the source. "Angelina didn't have many friends and her world revolved around Brad and the kids." Adds a second source: "Angelina was wildly possessive and accused George of being a bad influence on Brad."

Eventually George settled down, too, falling hard for human rights lawyer Amal in 2013. But double dates with Brad and Angelina were not in the cards — the source says Angelina resented Amal and hated all of the attention she got. "Angelina was the world's most glamorous humanitarian until Amal came along and stole her thunder," explains the source. The feeling was mutual. "You could cut the tension between them with a knife," notes the second source.

Tellingly, Brad and Angelina were MIA from George and Amal's star-studded Italian wedding, which they blamed on filming their 2015 movie, By the Sea. The second source says it was a lie. "Word is Angelina refused to let Brad attend," the second source reveals. George felt betrayed. "It was the most important day of his life. He was so hurt."

Brad himself admitted he and George also experienced some tension over rights to movies for their respective production companies. "It can get competitive," he said in 2015. "We do naturally have a lot of the same tastes and interests."

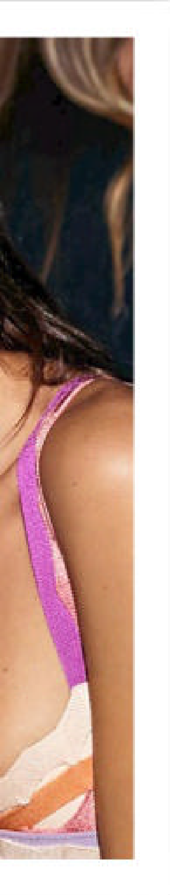
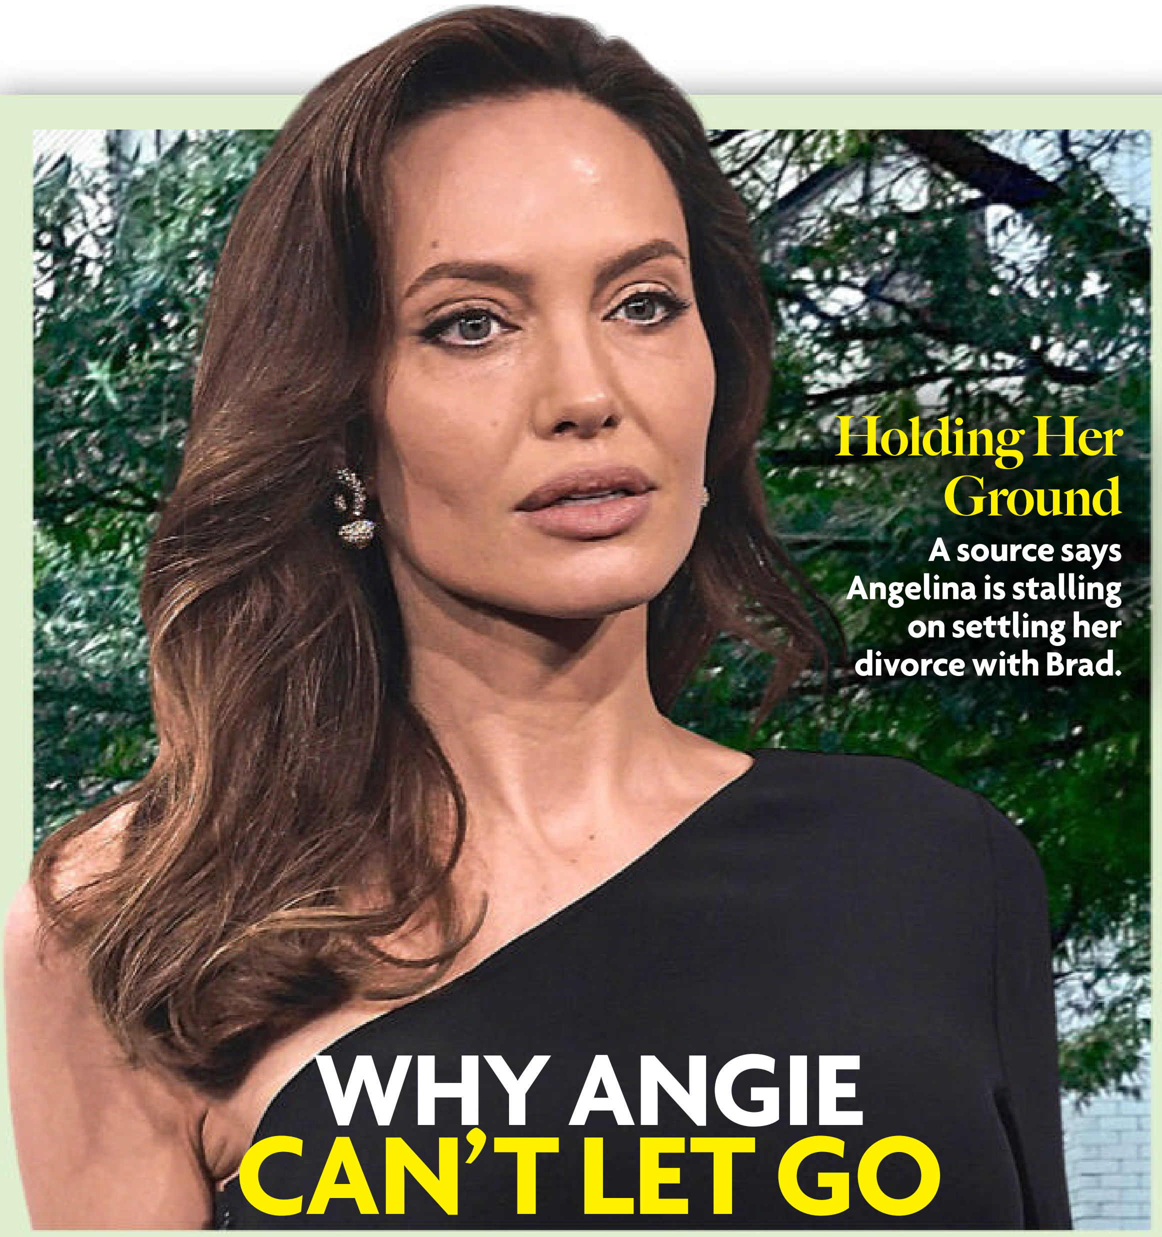
MENDING FENCES

In the end, George, 61, was the one to reach out. "He'd been following Brad's toxic split from Angelina and called him," says the source, noting that they picked up right where they'd left off. "George is a very forgiving person, and he holds no grudges against Brad." They've both made some big changes. Brad revealed he'd gotten sober in 2017, while George has mellowed out since becoming a dad to twins Ella and Alexander, 5. "They won't be knocking back the beers like they did in the old days, but they're still having a good time," says the source. In September, Brad cheekily called George "the most handsome man in the world" in an interview. "Everyone on the Wolves set is raving about how much fun it is to be around them," adds the second source.



Amal, 44, is happy George has his friend back — and is already a huge fan of Brad's new girlfriend, 30-year-old jewelry designer Ines de Ramon. "Amal thinks Ines is warm, charming and fun," says the first source. "She adores her."

Moving forward, George and Brad have made a pact to never let anything get in the way of their relationship again. "Its a huge relief for Brad to be able to put the past behind them," says the second source. "This time around, their bromance is invincible." ★



Holding Her Ground

A source says Angelina is stalling on settling her divorce with Brad.

WHY ANGIE CAN'T LET GO

It's been more than six years since Angelina and Brad split, but they have yet to make their divorce or custody agreement final. According to an insider, Angelina — who filed court documents in October alleging Pitt had physically assaulted her and their children aboard a private jet flight in 2016 (his lawyers denied the allegations) — is biding her time until the children are old enough to decide where they want to live. "Angelina won't give in to Brad's demand for joint custody and he won't give up trying," says the insider. "The feeling is she'll keep the issue simmering until all of the kids are of legal age, and then Brad won't have any say at all." The insider says she'll likely move to Europe when Knox and Vivienne turn 18. "She would be there now if it weren't for Brad," says the insider. "She'll probably move overseas in a few years, and there's little doubt the kids will follow her there."

FINAL FLICK

The duo starred in the Coen Brothers' hit Burn After Reading, in 2008. It was the last movie they did together before the upcoming thriller, Wolves.

MARRIED LIFE

An insider says Angelina "was the elephant in the room" and "meddled" in Brad's friendship with George.

FINAL BLOW

A source says George was hurt when Brad skipped his 2014 wedding to Amal. "He felt like Angelina had stolen his best friend."

Crowning Glory

"Kate is determined to forge ahead and show what she and William are doing for Britain," says an insider. "She comes off as well-informed and caring."

Kate vs. 20-YEA EXPL

THE QUEEN CONSORT AND THE FUTURE QUEEN FACE OFF IN THE COUNTDOWN TO KING CHARLES III'S CORONATION.

PRINCESS KATE kept a smile on her face during a Jan. 31 visit to Leeds Kirkgate Market. Looking sleek in a long green coat as she glided through the crowd, the 41-year-old got an enthusiastic response from one onlooker: a wolf whistle!

Once dubbed "Waity Katie" for allowing Prince William, 40, to take his sweet time to propose and derided for her middle-class roots (Kate's mother was a flight attendant!), the mom to Prince George, 9, Princess Charlotte, 7, and 4-year-old Prince Louis has gone on to become one of the most popular royals. And that's just the problem. With the coronation of King Charles III on the horizon, Queen Consort Camilla is determined to take control, insiders tell Star. As a result, a feud that has been simmering between Camilla and Kate for 20 years has combusted. "Camilla has been sharing her strong opinions with Charles and others in royal circles for years," says an insider. "Now that she's finally queen consort, she expects to be heard."

A QUIET WORD

In his bombshell memoir, Spare, Prince Harry alleges that for decades the royal family has used back channels to leak favorable — and not so favorable — stories to the press. Camilla, who was spotted at a recent holiday lunch with bigwigs from the U.K. tabloids, is no exception, he asserts. Back in the "Waity Katie" days, says an insider, when the 75-year-old was still trying to overcome her rep as the Other Woman who destroyed Charles' fairy-tale marriage to Diana, "word is,

> — a friend tells Star

Popularity Contest

“Camilla doesn’t like that William and Kate are more popular than she and Charles are,” says an insider. “But that’s how it’s always been.”

she reveled in Kate’s misery. She didn’t think Kate had the backbone to be a royal and her opinion was freely shared and picked up by the media.”

The shade goes both ways, notes the insider. “There are some in royal circles who get the impression Kate and Camilla do try to one-up each other in public by swaying public opinion to their side,” says the insider. While Camilla has been accused of feeding stories to the press to make herself look good at the expense of others, says the insider, “no one thinks Kate would stoop that low, but she is popular with the press.”

ROYAL SHOWDOWN

It may all come to a head at the May 6 coronation. “Operation Golden Orb,” as the historic ceremony is code named, has already generated controversy. Although Charles, 74, has promised the event will be smaller in scale than his mother Queen Elizabeth II’s 1953 coronation, there already has been criticism over the crown jewels historically used in the event. The Imperial State Crown, worn by the monarch, and the Queen Mother’s coronation crown, which Camilla is eyeing, both contain stones that former British colonies now claim were stolen.

Then there is the big question of whether Charles will invite his rogue royal son, Harry, and his wife, Meghan. There, Camilla and Kate may share some common ground. “Charles wants Harry and Meghan to attend because Harry is still his son,” says the insider. “William and Camilla think it’s a bad idea.” ★

Home Sweet Home

Lisa Marie inherited Graceland, the 13.8-acre, 23-room estate, from her father in 1977, when she was 9.

IN SHOCKING NEW COURT PAPERS, PRISCILLA PRESLEY CLAIMS THAT HER DAUGHTER'S WILL SHOULD BE DECLARED 'INVALID.'

IS THE WILL Real?

“Priscilla was exasperated over some of the choices Lisa Marie was making.”

—a friend tells Star

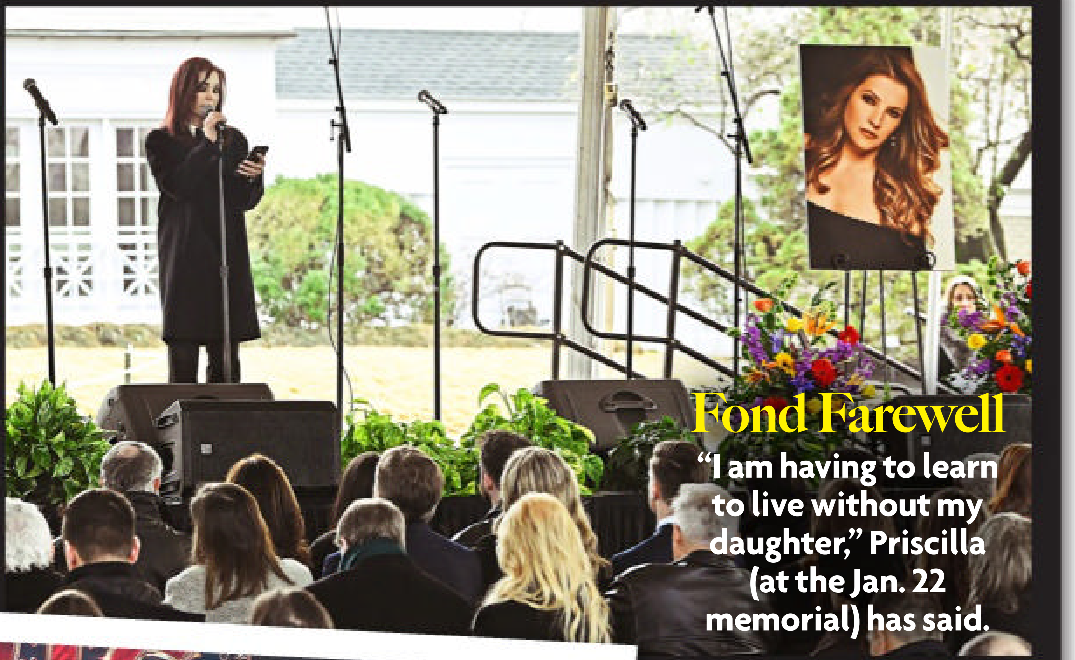
ONE week after Lisa Marie Presley’s memorial service at Graceland, in Memphis, Tenn., was streamed for 1.5 million viewers, her mom, Priscilla Presley, marked another mournful, more private milestone. “Today would have been Lisa’s 55th birthday,” the 77-year-old said of her only daughter with the late King of Rock and Roll, Elvis Presley, Feb. 1. “My wish is to protect my three grandchildren and keep our family together.”

It seems like a message of strength for Lisa Marie’s children and heirs, Riley Keough, 33, her daughter with Danny Keough, and her 14-year-old twins Harper and Vivienne, with ex Michael Lockwood. (Lisa Marie was predeceased by her son, Benjamin Keough, 27.) But in a shocking move, Priscilla has already contested the “Lights Out” singer’s will, potentially opening up a legal tussle over the estate. On Jan. 26, the Dallas star filed a petition in L.A. Superior Court questioning the “authenticity and validity” of a 2016 amendment that replaced her and former business manager Barry Siegel as co-trustees, asking that it be declared invalid. “This current situation is a bitter pill for Priscilla to swallow,” an insider tells Star. “It’s hard for her to process that she’s now facing the prospect of a battle with her own granddaughter.”



Fond Farewell

“I am having to learn to live without my daughter,” Priscilla (at the Jan. 22 memorial) has said.

Fit for a King

Priscilla (with Riley, Lisa Marie and the twins) “isn’t broke, she just wants what’s right,” says an insider. “It’s only fair after she preserved Elvis’ legacy.”

FOLLOW THE MONEY

Among Priscilla’s contentions: That her name is misspelled on the 2016 document; that her daughter’s signature is “inconsistent with her usual and customary signature”; and that it was never notorized or delivered to her or Siegel. “Priscilla is appalled that this document was changed without her knowledge,” says the insider, adding, “One theory is that this is the work of someone shady inside Lisa Marie’s inner circle.”

If Lisa Marie’s own court battles are to be believed, the often-troubled singer has already been subjected to some shady dealings—and Siegel and Priscilla were at the center of them. When Lisa Marie sued Siegel in 2018, claiming he “negligently” handled her $100 million fortune, her attorneys also alleged that the former business manager had “allowed (and, in fact, lobbied)” for her mother to receive $900K a year from Elvis Presley Enterprises, “even though Lisa’s mother has no ownership in EPE (nor was she performing any sort of executive-level work to justify the salary).” Siegel, the complaint continued, “failed to disclose these facts to Lisa and he did not negotiate the same salary benefit for Lisa.” The case was settled out of court.

Then there’s the fact that Riley—a successful actress and mom of one wed to stuntman Ben Smith-Peterson since 2015—is a logical choice as trustee. “Riley always had her mom’s back through tough times,” says the insider. “She’s very levelheaded and there’s no doubt her mother adored and trusted her.”

MOMMY ISSUES

Lisa Marie and Priscilla weren’t always so tight. Though they appeared close and happy with Riley at their last public appearance, Jan. 10’s Golden Globes, they often butted heads. “They had a roller-coaster relationship over the years,” confirms the insider. “Priscilla was exasperated over some of the choices her daughter was making. She hated seeing Lisa Marie self-destruct.”

Elvis, the Baz Luhrmann biopic, which garnered star Austin Butler a Golden Globe and an Oscar nod, brought them closer. “They did bond a lot during the making of the movie,” says the insider. “That gave them a lot of comfort.”

Insiders hope the family can stay tight. “The hope among everyone is that Priscilla and Riley can figure out a compromise once the facts are established,” says the insider, “and this won’t turn into an ugly battle in the courts.” ★

In a recent interview, Austin belatedly gave Vanessa credit for inspiring him to play Elvis Presley.

VANESSA HUDGENS

(No) Thank you very much! The 34-year-old piled on when Austin Butler — her BF from 2011 to 2019 — was roasted for accepting his Golden Globe Award with a thick Memphis accent straight out of Elvis. When a Twitter user questioned whether the Anaheim, Calif., native's speech was "genuine," Vanessa snarked, "He went to the Lady Gaga school of Oscar campaign acting," a dig at the singer's over-the-top Italian accent for House of Gucci.

SHAKIRA

A woman scorned! In a savage, record-breaking new song, the 45-year-old mocks her ex Gerard Piqué, who split from her in 2022 after 10 years and two children. The Colombia native bragged that she's out of the former soccer star's league and had some choice words for his 23-year-old new girlfriend, including comparing her to a down-market car: "You swapped a Ferrari for a Twingo/ You swapped a Rolex for a Casio." Her ex's response? He went Insta-official with model Clara Chia Marti!

SHE'S BETTER OFF WITHOUT HIM!

MILEY CYRUS

The gift that keeps on giving! The 30-year-old dropped her new single, "Flowers," on ex Liam Hemsworth's Jan. 13 birthday. In the breakup tune, she seems to reference the home the pair, who were wed from 2018 to 2020, lost in the Wolsey fire then croons, "I can love me better than you can."

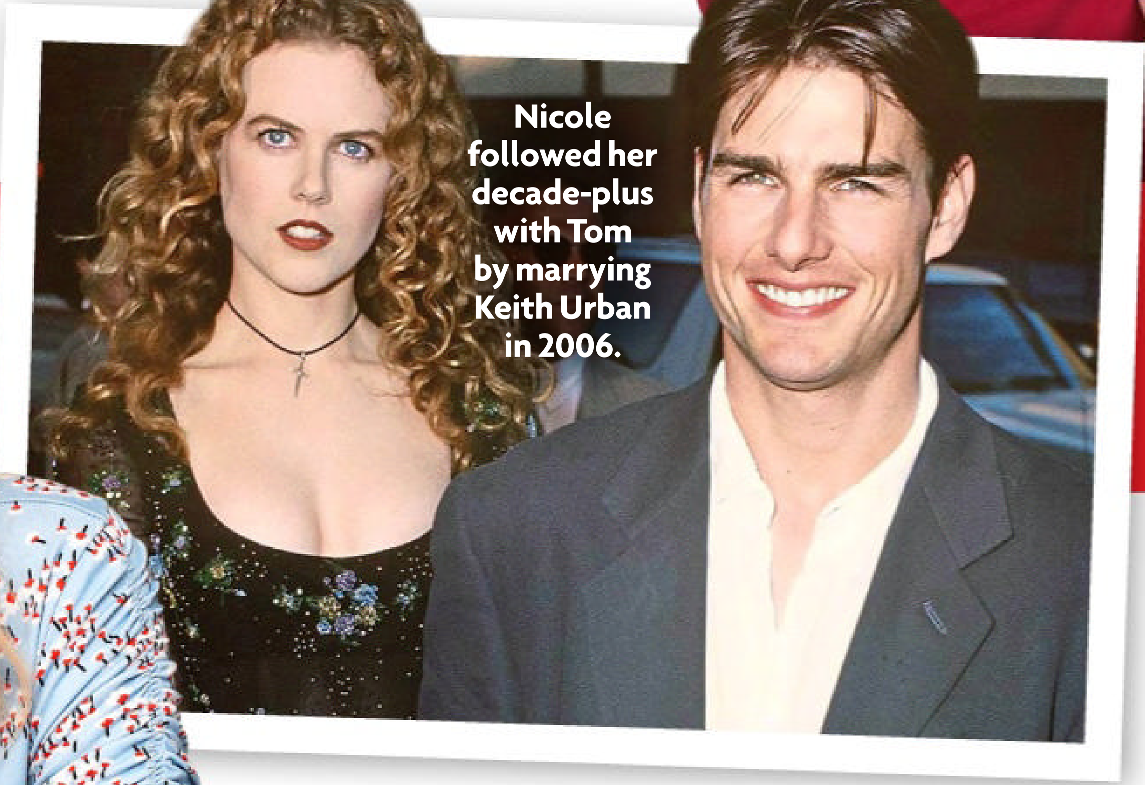
He said what? During an interview with Howard Stern, the 50-year-old seemed to blame Jennifer Garner, 50, his wife from 2005 to 2013 (and mom to his three children), for his alcohol issues. "Part of why I started drinking was because I felt trapped," the Oscar winner griped. "I was like, 'I can't leave 'cause of my kids, but I'm not happy. What do I do?' What I did was drink a bottle of scotch."



Nicole followed her decade-plus with Tom by marrying Keith Urban in 2006.

NICOLE KIDMAN

Sick burn! The Aussie actress recently shut down an interview question about Tom Cruise, her husband from 1990 to 2001. "That's, honestly so long ago that that isn't in this equation," the 55-year-old snapped. No matter, the 5-foot-11 Big Little Lies star already gave her 5-foot-7 ex major-league shade with a single post-split quip: "Well, I can wear heels now."

MAGIC MIKE'S LAST DANCE

Channing Tatum, Salma Hayek

In theaters Fri., Feb. 10 R

Back to the grind! After a business deal gone bust, Mike Lane (Tatum) is now more "Tragic Mike" than "Magic Mike." Broke and bartending in Miami, Mike longs to get his groove back. But how? You guessed it! Mike shows off his stripper moves for wealthy socialite Maxandra Mendoza (Hayek), restoring her passion for life and his passion for his art in his process. An impressed (and turned-on) Maxandra approaches Mike with an offer he can't refuse — luring him overseas to London to start a stage show at a famous theater. (She's also got a personal agenda in mind!) With the pressure on, Mike now has to recruit a new roster of seductive dancers and whip them into shape for the performance of a lifetime. Director Steven Soderbergh helms the thrilling threequel, which combines the dramatic depths of 2012's Magic Mike and the decadent delights of 2015's Magic Mike XXL. The ultimate Galentine's Day flick, Magic Mike's Last Dance serves as a grand finale for one of the sexiest film franchises ever made.

SHRINKING

Jason Segal, Harrison Ford

Fridays on Apple TV+

Can a breakdown lead to a breakthrough? Still mourning the death of his wife, Jimmy (Segal) is drowning his sorrows in Adderall and alcohol — and it's affecting his ability to be a good father to his daughter, friend and therapist. Jimmy tries to help himself by helping others by telling his patients exactly what he thinks. Cocreated by Segal with Ted Lasso's Bill Lawrence and Brett Goldstein, the dramedy is emotionally unfiltered — and refreshingly honest.

SHARPER

Julianne Moore, Sebastian Stan, John Lithgow

In theaters Fri., Feb. 10; on Apple TV+, Fri., Feb. 17 R

Who's scamming who? Cunning con artists Madeline (Moore) and Max (Stan) conspire to fleece Manhattan billionaire Richard Hobbes (Lithgow), enlisting recovering junkie Sandra (Briana Middleton) to seduce the mogul's troubled son Tom (Justice Smith) along the way. But when all parties get overly emotionally involved, the grand scheme gets thrown for a loop. Cascading from grimy dive bars to glitzy Fifth Avenue penthouses, this neo-noir takes a bite out of the Big Apple. The result is a clever and compelling thriller will keep viewers guessing until the jaw-dropping climax. Sharper cuts like a knife!

SOMEBODY THAT I USED TO KNOW

Alison Brie, Jay Ellis

Fri., Feb. 10, on Prime Video R

Workaholic reality-TV producer Ally (Brie) returns to her hometown, where she reconnects with her ex Sean (Ellis) and wonders about the path not taken. Things get even more complicated when she learns that Sean is getting married to Cassidy (Kiersey Clemons), a boho musician who reminds Ally of who she used to be. Will she sabotage the nuptials to get a second chance with Sean? Cowritten by Brie and hubby Dave Franco, the romantic dramedy plays like an updated take on My Best Friend's Wedding.

Boasting a stellar supporting cast including Hank Azaria, Alison Pill and Jacki Weaver, this sci-fi dramedy is a witty and contemplative trip worth taking.

NEW NORDIC™

The No.1 Hair Supplement in Scandinavia

I had lost all hope but..

NOW I HAVE HAIR VOLUME!

Catherine always had problems with her hair, so she would go to the hairdresser often for treatments. With time, this began to take a toll on her hair, and she felt she had to do something about it.

"My name is Catherine and for years, I struggled with my hair. Dull, brittle, falling out…it was just a complete train wreck. I didn't know what to do.

I READ ABOUT HAIR VOLUME™

I was sitting on the couch one night when I saw an ad about Hair Volume™, a Swedish supplement with naturally derived hair nutrients. Everything about the ad was similar to my story. Seeing that I've always been interested in nourishing my hair and keeping it heathy, I went to my local health food store and learned about the importance of supplementation. The lady at the store also recommended Hair Volume™ as her customers spoke highly of it.

FINALLY, MY HAIR FELT REJUVINATED

After a few months of taking Hair Volume™, I noticed my hair starting to feel "heavy" on top. I was shocked but happy. It looked much healthier. My daughter is a hairdresser and I went to see her three weeks ago. She was also pleasantly surprised at the state of my hair. The best part is that my husband noticed something different in my hair too! I will definitely keep taking Hair Volume and highly recommend it to anyone wanting nourished hair and more hair volume."

Star PARTING SHOT

DADDY'S GIRL!

Malti Makes Her Debut

Los Angeles, Jan. 30

The Jonas Brothers' Hollywood Walk of Fame celebration was a family affair, with Nick and Priyanka Chopra's 12-month-old daughter, Malti Marie, making a rare appearance. "I can't wait to come back here with you in 15 years and embarrass you in front of your friends," joked the "Jealous" singer, 30. Later on, Nick, who was honored alongside his brothers Kevin and Joe, shared just how much it meant to him to have Malti there at the star unveiling. "It's a special thing," he gushed. "I think as parents, everything has a new meaning and has even more meaning, moments like this, especially."

Kevin and Joe's wives, Danielle Jonas and Sophie Turner, joined Priyanka at the celebration.
